NAAC Question 2 –

Describe the student centric methods, such as experiential learning, participative learning and problem-solving methodologies etc., adopted for enhancing learning experiences?

Answer

In student centric method, college puts emphasis on learning by doing that is learning is acquired through doing or experiencing. Under experiential learning, students acknowledge that the significance of socially useful learning is to understand the process of learning.

Self-evaluation and self-criticism involving feeling and intellect are adopted by students for the overall development of their personality. Teachers are dedicatedly working towards translating the classroom knowledge into practical knowledge which helps students to gain experience, learn new skills, add value and expand their knowledge. Various webinars, assignments, activity based learning programs are organized by college to sensitize students to face the practical challenges in various fields.

Under participative learning method, college motivates students to participate in the learning process. Students interact and learn from each other in group discussion and debate competitions conducted by college. Under problem solving methodology and case study, any imaginary or real situation from neighborhood are discussed with students and ask their opinions and stretch but they are opinions and strategies. Through Anandam project, students have made many projects and enthusiastically participated in this course.
