The College:

Government College, Sujangarh was established in the year 1968 as two separate units with the title Gyaniram Harakchand Sarawagi Arts and Commerce College and as Seth Moti Lal Bengani Science College, Ladnu. At the initial stage, arts and commerce classes were started with 66 students in Bhanwar Lal Kala Bal Mandir, Sujangarh. Later on, it was transferred in Raja ji ki kothi on 1.7.1969

On 28th January 1974, the present building was constructed by Seth Gyaniram Harakchand Sarawagi trust and the college was shifted in it. With the herculean efforts of MLA Shri Phool Chand Jain and the honorable citizens of Sujangarh, then Chief Minister Shri Mohan Lal Sukhadia laid foundation of the present building.

Similarly, the Science College started in Johri Higher Secondary School, Ladnu in the year 1968-69 and later on shifted in the building just opposite to the present Arts/Commerce College.

For almost one and a half decade, both Colleges were run separately and later on by the Government Notification, they were merged in a single College on 1. 1.1982

Presently, G H S Government P G College of Sujangarh is a co-educational College which is an integrated unit of both of these Colleges and called as “Sujla Mahavidhyalaya” by the local people.

The College is located on Mega Highway at a distance of 6 Km. from Sujangarh and 9 Km. from Ladnu, just opposite to Jaswantgarh railway station.

Presently, UG courses are running in Science, Arts and Commerce and PG courses are running in Chemistry, ABST, EAFM and Buss. Management.

The institution aims to educate the young individuals to learn to surmount their weaknesses and limitations and set themselves on the way to the discovery of their potentialities of illumination, service and harmony. A substantive part of the enrolment comes from semi urban and rural locales of the district. They undergo a dynamic and humanizing process of education before stepping into the tough competitive world. The institution encourages dialogic relations between teachers and pupils, taking into consideration their past limitations yet immense intellectual resources. The students are encouraged to rise above their localized milieu and possess a universal approach to become a part of mainstream education. Their limitation of acquiring proficiency in English language, their lack of confidence, their personalities over coloured with the local colouring undergo an educational conditioning in the institution to finally make them emerge as balanced citizens of the country. Being accredited with “B” grade twice consecutively bears testimony to its illustrious and glorified history, growth, development and achievements over the years.

Institutional Distinctiveness:
