

ANNUAL E-GOVERNANCE REPORT
(Presented for Approval of Staff/Academic Council)

The adoption of information and communication technology (ICT) in the institutions to provide services and applications, optimize job efficiency, and encourage democratic values is defined as E-government. It serves as a platform for the effective, efficient, as well as on service provision to all users. The goal of e-governance is to increase transparency and productivity in an employee's performance. This demand for transparency and efficiency emerges from the ever-increasing expectations of the digital era. Some of the main elements on which the notion of e-governance rests and finds its basis include faster and less expensive communication, convenience, transparency, accountability, enhanced customer services, and expanded access to information.

Sri Baldev Ram Mirdha Govt College, Nagaur is making every attempt to keep up with the most advanced developments of e-governance in terms of different operations being conducted digitally over the web. The necessary infrastructure is provided in part by the college directorate Jaipur with state government and in part by M.D.S .U. Ajmer. The majority of faculty and students use smart phones to take advantage of the advantages of current day technologies accessible in the sector of higher education. Under the central government's digital India program, regular digital literacy sessions are held for both students and employee personnel. In the Institute, a very well IT-Cell has been created to supervise and manage the proper functioning of software applications and to resolve any IT-related concerns so that optimum benefits may be obtained from them. In the event of software or online portal troubles, students and staff members receive help-desk style assistance and support from the IT Cell. Furthermore, the IT Cell keeps the College's online and other data formats up to date. The overwhelming human resource reaction to digital technology has improved the possibilities of e- government in several sectors of operation. In general, the following educational operating fields are available at the College.

1. Development and Planning

E-mails, faxes, and messages are used for online government correspondence on planning and development. Recommendations for infrastructure development, R&D projects, seminars & workshops, different grants and scholarships are generated and submitted electronically to concerned organizations, including the state government, using a participatory management system, and sanctions are received using the same method. Budget allocations for many initiatives, including research projects, are also completed digitally via net- banking and other internet channels. HTE and DCE play an important role in the data and information transfer process between the College and the higher education department.

- E-mail communication with government and other agencies,
- Vigilant disclosure of ongoing information on its website,
- Large-scale digitalization,
- Computer awareness programmes for teachers and students,
- E-library management.

ICT-Cell organizes proper training for working on various user interfaces throughout the year. Apart from keeping online and other data formats up to date and keeping the College's hardware and software inventory up to date and accurate, the Cell also initiates new proposals for the delivery of online courses and the development of IT-based infrastructure. A dedicated WhatsApp Group has been established at the institution level as well as in each academic institution to communicate the the purpose of communicating orders, information, direction, and discussion on a single platform. The government provides the required financial allotments for the execution of government initiatives.

2. Administration-

The College administration has made advances toward paperless administration, with practically all contacts with relevant officials taking place online via e-mail and other digital media.
