

7.3.1 Institutional Distinctiveness

Upliftment Of Educationally Backward Masses

A pioneer and munificent philanthropist Sh. Ram Gopal Agarwal donated building to state government to establish and run Nehru Mahavidyalaya, first institution of higher education where all streams viz science, commerce and arts are available to students of Deoli as well as nearby area who otherwise had to toll hard to far off places to complete their studies. Later this institution was renamed as Government College Deoli.

Government College Deoli, a renowned institution and pioneer in imparting quality education to all and especially to the most downtrodden section of the society and all out endeavor to enable females of the society to claim their respected place.

Government College Deoli established in the year 1976 and catered to the need of inhabitants of nearby areas to uplift them socially and especially female students who were devoid of any higher education because of non availability of college. The main aim since inception of this college is to impart quality education in a socially cohesive environment. Though started with limited resources this college has come a long way in providing world class facilities to the students.
